OCTOBER IS THE MONTH OF THE ROSARY

In addition to the daily Rosary that takes place during the week, all through the month of October, we will pray the Rosary after 4:00 p.m. Mass on Saturdays and after 8:30 a.m. Mass on Sundays. On these special days, our focus will be praying for world peace, as Pope Leo has asked us all to do.

TWENTY-EIGHTH SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME: The Wedding Feast

The readings for this Sunday invite us to trust in God's generous care and to accept His invitation with a life prepared for Him. Isaiah describes a feast for all peoples; Saint Paul teaches contentment and confidence in God; and Jesus tells of a wedding banquet whose invitation calls for a real response.
In the first reading (Is 25:6-10), the prophet Isaiah offers a vision of hope: God prepares a rich feast for all peoples. He will destroy death forever, wipe away tears, and remove the disgrace of His people. This is more than a promise of a joyful meal. It is a promise that God will bring healing, freedom, and life where there has been sorrow and fear. The reading ends with the people rejoicing in the Lord, who has saved them. God's promise is not reserved for a select few. His desire is to gather people into a life of communion with Him. Even when we experience grief, illness, loneliness, or uncertainty, we can hold on to the hope that God has not abandoned us and that His love is stronger than death. We can live this reading each day by offering comfort to someone who is hurting and by trusting that God is at work even in the midst of sorrow.

In the second reading (Phil 4:12-14.19-20), Saint Paul speaks about learning to live in every circumstance. He knows what it is to have plenty and what it is to be in need, yet he has learned to find strength in Christ. Paul is not saying that our circumstances do not matter. He is saying that they do not have to determine our peace or our faithfulness. He is grateful for the Philippians' support, and he trusts that God will provide what is needed. We can learn from Paul to receive good times with gratitude and to face difficult times without losing hope. Contentment does not mean giving up or refusing help; Paul himself appreciates the generosity of others. It means placing our confidence in Christ and remaining generous, whether we have much or little. We can live this reading each day by thanking God for what we have, asking for His help in what we lack, and sharing what we can with someone in need.

In the Gospel (Mt 22:1-14), Jesus compares the kingdom of heaven to a wedding feast prepared by a king for his son. The invited guests refuse to come. Some are distracted by their own affairs; others mistreat the servants who bring the invitation. The king then invites people from the roads, both good and bad, and the hall is filled. The parable reveals the breadth of God's invitation. God calls people into His kingdom, but we must respond.

Let us suppose that you are giving a party. When you have fixed the date, you draw up a list of the people you wish to invite. Then you send out the invitations with RSVP emblazoned on them and wait for the responses to come back. Basically, you can expect three kinds of responses.

Some accept your invitation. Every acceptance makes you feel happy. Of course there can be degrees of acceptance. Some may accept half-heartedly; they are coming only because they feel in some way obliged to come. But others may accept with enthusiasm; they feel honored and grateful for having been invited.

Others refuse your invitation. Every refusal disappoints you, perhaps even hurts you, but at least you know where you stand with these people. There can also be degrees of refusal. In some cases, it may be that people would like to come but can't because they have a prior engagement on the date in question. But in other cases, people are just not interested; it's not that they can't come, but that they won't come.

There is a third way of responding to the invitation, by not responding at all. Yes, that too is a response. You wait and wait for a reply, but none comes. This is worst kind of response of all. It's worse than a refusal. When people refuse the invitation, you know where you stand with them. But here you don't. You are left wondering what's going on. Have you inadvertently done something to offend the invited ones? You don't know, and you probably never will know. If you were to contact them, they would probably say, "Oh, I meant to reply, but . . ." I meant to! What an empty feeling this leaves you with.

God doesn't compel us. He invites us. A command can't be so easily ignored, but an invitation can. Advertisers can't compel us to buy a certain product, but they resort to all kinds of gimmicks to try to persuade and cajole us into buying it. God doesn't act like that. He has too much respect for our freedom.

Often, we don't know what we really want, or even what is good for us. What we are seeking, and what deep down we really value and desire are not always the same thing. Perhaps we are so busy, our lives are so full, that even God has difficulty in breaking through to us. Only God knows what is truly best for us. And just as parents want the best for their children, so God wants the best for us, who are His children. What is God calling us to? God is calling us to a deeper and more authentic life here on earth. He is calling us into intimacy with himself. He is calling us into community with others. And at death He will call us into eternal life.

The man without a wedding garment reminds us that accepting the invitation is not merely showing up; it calls for a changed life. The garment can be understood as a sign of the conversion, faith, and goodness that should accompany our response to God's grace. We do not earn the invitation, but we are called to live in a way that reflects the gift we have received. The guests who decline the invitation may be busy with ordinary responsibilities, not necessarily doing anything evil. Yet even good things can become obstacles when they keep us from God. The Gospel asks us to notice whether prayer, worship, love of neighbor, and the needs of others are being pushed aside. We can live this reading each day by making room for God in our schedule and responding to His invitation through one deliberate act of faith, love, or service
May we leave this Eucharist with renewed hope, trusting God in every circumstance, sharing His generosity with others, and living as guests who are grateful to be called. Amen.

REFLECT & RESPOND TO SCRIPTURE

1st Reading Question

Isaiah speaks of the Lord's lavish future blessings upon all nations and peoples. How should we, as believers, best prepare for God's future blessings?

2nd Reading Question

Paul sees that the key to peace of mind in all of life's circumstances is to be "empowered" by Christ Jesus. How does your faith in Jesus strengthen you?

Gospel Question

In the Parable of the Wedding Feast, Jesus teaches that all who are invited to God's banquet are to be fully open and prepared. What are some spiritual exercises you practice to remain prepared for God's work in your life?

- Next weekend, we celebrate World Mission Sunday, focusing on the theme chosen by Pope Leo XIV: One in Christ, United in Mission. He invites us to rediscover the profound unity we share in Christ, and how our baptismal identity overflows into our shared mission to bring all into communion with God. Through this second collection, we are in solidarity with 1,130 mission territories who are dependent on the prayers and financial support of the universal Church. Let us pray this week for those missionaries who bring Christ's love to far-off places, often at great personal cost and risk. And let us ask the Holy Spirit to rekindle a zeal in our own hearts, that we may also be missionaries wherever we are. See Page 10 for more information.

Congratulations to Susy Padilla-Arteaga and Cruz Arteaga, pictured here with their family. They were recently honored at the Archdiocese of Chicago's annual Noche de Gala for their service to Hispanic ministry at All Souls. The annual Our Lady of Guadalupe Mass and celebration would not be the wonderful event that it is without their ministrations! Mark your calendars for this year's OLG event on Saturday, December 12.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 7:00 p.m.

The Feast of All Souls is one way of celebrating those who rest in God's loving embrace and remain within our hearts and minds. It is a special way to remember them in the light of our all-loving God. We will celebrate them at a special Mass on November 2.

As an act of honor and tribute, we invite you to bring framed photos of the cherished people you have lost to the Parish Office M-F, 8:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m. These can include all deceased loved ones, regardless of when they passed away. (Please write your name and phone on the photo so we may return it to you.) You are also invited to print the names of the deceased in our Book of the Dead located on the podium at the back of church.

If you have a family member who passed away on or after November 2, 2025 and was NOT buried through All Souls Parish/St. Ann Church, please call the parish office with the name(s) of the deceased no later than October 26. Their names will be read at the All Souls Day Mass. If your loved one was buried through us, you need not call as we will have his/her name in our records.

"That they may all be one." (John 17:21)

Pope Leo XIV selected our 2026 theme to emphasize our oneness. He invites us to a deeper communion in Christ and a sense of unity in the divine mission of love. On this day, every Catholic community around the globe prays and offers spiritual and material sacrifices to support the missionary efforts of the one Church.

"Your prayers and practical support will be a great help in bringing the Gospel of God's love to everyone, especially the poorest and those most in need. Every gift, no matter how small, becomes a meaningful act of missionary communion."

– Pope Leo XIV

100 Years of World Mission Sunday

Pope Pius XI first instituted the celebration of World Mission Sunday in 1926. The purpose was for the global Church to provide resources and hope in areas where the Church is young, poor or persecuted and cannot sustain herself. In 1843 the fledgling Chicago diocese was mission territory and benefitted from mission donations. Years later, we began to pay that gift forward when the Chicago mission office sent our first contributions in 1926. We are proud to say that the Archdiocese of Chicago has been supporting global mission for 100 years!

On World Mission Sunday the entire Catholic Church:

- Renews our shared identity as baptized missionary disciples.
- Prays for missionaries who have left their homelands to proclaim the Gospel in often remote and challenging places.
- Generously gives to support the Church in 1,130 mission dioceses in Africa, Asia, Latin America, Oceania and the Middle East.

2025 World Mission Sunday donations

Built 271 mission churches.

Supported 87,977 seminarians.

Trained 844,000 catechists.
